

About Lawrantians Publication

The Lawrantians Publication (LP) started in 2024. LP is a bi-annual, peer-reviewed Journal. It provides a dedicated platform to express views on topical legal issues, thereby generating interplay of ideas on emerging matters and issues. This platform is also destined at generating and acknowledging the initiative and desire of young law students, academicians, lawyers, and legal advisors to contribute in the field of law and at society at large. The purpose of the Journal is to report quality research, develop theory and explore new perspective on different issues and challenges prevailing in the society. The Journal offers an avenue for high-quality empirical and theoretical scholarly work with an interdisciplinary approach towards law. In the present globalized scenario, it is necessary for such an approach so that people from varied fields of academia can understand the importance, impact, and the image of law as it can affect the community at large. In nutshell, LP provides a forum for the exchange of ideas and constructive debate on legal, interdisciplinary and policy related issues surrounding us.

Procedure

LP works with a double-blind review procedure. After the article is received, as part of the editorial process, it sent for an external review. On the basis of the review reports, the author is thereupon asked to revise and resubmit the article by incorporating the comments by expert reviewers. The journal stands for novel research and thus, existence of plagiarism above 30% would lead to rejection of the paper before it is sent out for external review. The same shall be duly communicated to the author.

On acceptance of the paper, the contributor will be asked to assign copyright to Lawrantians Publication. The Journal reserves the right to deny the publication of the article at any stage of the review process, and the same shall be communicated to the concerned authors with due effect. Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any materials, including photographs and illustrations for which they do not hold copyright in both print and electronic formats and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgments are included in the manuscript.
